

Love Never Ends

After Estelle's husband Robert, a much loved local children's entertainer, was diagnosed with a terminal illness, the couple spent three weeks in our Hospice Residence. During his stay, Robert was able to fulfill three wishes: he and Estelle renewed their wedding vows, he received the first copy of his newly written children's book and, incredibly, he connected with Canadian astronaut Chris Hatfield.

"None of this would be possible without the generous support of the staff and volunteers of White Rock South Surrey Hospice Society," reflects Estelle.

She was by her husband's side throughout the entire journey. Through the care and comfort of our Hospice Society she was able to meet with a counsellor on a regular basis to receive the support and strength she needed to help her through her grief both during Robert's time in Hospice and following his passing.

"The whole time I was there I felt fully supported; I would have never survived it without the help of the Hospice Society."
